Dear Bakie Families,

It is an honor and pleasure to begin my tenure as the principal of the Bakie School. I am thrilled to join the Sanborn community and look forward seeing staff and students in the building each day!

As school begins, I would like to officially introduce myself to the Kingston community. I grew up in Illinois, but have lived in New Hampshire for over 15 years and currently reside in Salem, New Hampshire with my wife and three children. This year marks my fifteenth year working in public education and in that time, I have been a paraprofessional, elementary classroom teacher, assistant principal and elementary principal. I hold a Master's Degree in Elementary Education as well as an Educational Specialist Degree in Educational Leadership and Administration, both from the University of New Hampshire.

The combination of education and practical experience working in schools, I believe, has prepared me to effectively lead Bakie School at this time. I am excited to be part of such a progressive school district and I am looking forward to guiding our faculty and students as they continue their journey toward personalized learning.

If you have questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me any time.

Sincerely,
